Hugh began his legal career as an associate attorney with the civil litigation firm of Welch, Murphy & Welch in 1984. He founded the law firm of Hugh W. Farrell & Associates in May of 1991, which became Farrell & Gunderson in 2007. The firm focused on business law, employment law, and health care law. Hugh and his team joined Davis, Agnor, Rapaport & Skalny, LLC in 2018.

Hugh concentrates his practice in civil litigation and, in particular, in the defense of security services, medical malpractice cases, insurance defense and defense of employment wrongful termination claims. He possesses extensive experience in the areas of general negligence, business torts, employment wrongful termination claims, employment discrimination claims, institutional security claims, workers' compensation claims, municipal liability claims, premises liability claims, insurance coverage declaratory judgment actions, and products liability.
